

Osier Stoves

The long firebox was designed to facilitate the burning of coppiced wood bundled into faggots. The two grey stoves were photographed prior to final decoration, although a growing number of clients have decided to retain this natural appearance. The painted stoves were finished with non-vinyl paint.
